

SRA Update

Issue 141 - July 2025

- General updates [#tab_de6a1]
- Compliance updates [#tab_de6a2]

Welcome to the latest SRA Update. You might have heard by now that my successor has been appointed. Sarah Rapson, currently the Executive Director of Supervision at the Financial Reporting Council, will take over from me before the end of the year when I retire. I'm sure you will join me in welcoming her to the post. Read more about Sarah in this issue. Also, dates for this year's renewal period have been confirmed and we have information and guidance for those of you who like to be prepared. And there's still time to have your say on changes to our rules on first-tier complaints – we are consulting on some amendments that should help firms and clients alike.

Paul Philip

Chief Executive

Renew your authorisation, dates confirmed

This year's renewal period will run from 1 to 31 October. As well as renewing authorisation for the practising year, we also obtain other information from you, such as your declaration of continuing competence. We make the questions available for those that renew on behalf of their whole firm.

First-tier complaints - proposed rule changes

All firms will receive complaints from clients. Although sometimes challenging, if handled constructively, how you deal with such issues can actually present opportunities to build relationships and improve how you do business. We are consulting on rule amendments that change when you might give your clients complaints information, and which define what a complaint is.

Introduction of varying publication periods for decisions [<https://media.sra.org.uk/sra/news/sra-update-140-publication-policy/>]

A new approach to how long details of regulatory and disciplinary outcomes about solicitors and law firms are published, with publication lengths varying based on seriousness, has come into effect as of 2 June 2025. The changes are designed to deliver a considered approach which is fair, proportionate and best serves the public interest.

Welcome to the latest issue of Compliance News. We have had reports from the Advisory Board for the Post Office Horizon compensation scheme that some solicitors representing sub-postmasters are potentially involved in inappropriate charging practices. We set out our position on this issue. We also have an update for those working on claims where there is – or may be – an option of a redress scheme. Also this month, catch up on information on sanctions against those in restricted jurisdictions, and save the date for this year's Compliance Officer Conference.

Legal help with compensation claims

[\[https://media.sra.org.uk/sra/news/sra-update-141-post-office-claims/\]](https://media.sra.org.uk/sra/news/sra-update-141-post-office-claims/)

Claiming for compensation can be complex and members of the public often need legal help when submitting applications. We have heard concerns from the Post Office Horizon scandal's advisory board about potential inappropriate charging practices by solicitors when working for sub postmasters. Any concerns will be investigated, and if we believe solicitors have fallen below the standards expected of them, we will take action.

Claims management activity, car finance and compensation schemes

[\[https://media.sra.org.uk/sra/news/car-finance-compensation-schemes/\]](https://media.sra.org.uk/sra/news/car-finance-compensation-schemes/)

Some of the issues that lead to compensation claims can in time have formal redress schemes. Motor finance commission is a claims area where the introduction of an industry-wide redress scheme is a possibility. Our guidance on claims management activity outlines your obligations to clients, including explaining other potential routes that might be available for them.

The UK government has implemented further sanctions under the Russia (Sanctions) (EU Exit) Regulations 2019. These updates are part of coordinated international efforts to restrict activities that undermine Ukraine's sovereignty and territorial integrity.

Legal services sanctions risks

[<https://media.sra.org.uk/sra/news/sra-update-140-sanctions-risks/>]

The Office of Financial Sanctions Implementation (OFSI) has released its first-ever Legal Services Threat Assessment, setting out the main sanctions compliance risks facing the legal sector. We welcome this report and encourage all firms to consider its findings.

Anti-money laundering guidance for legal sector [https://media.sra.org.uk/solicitors/resources/money-laundering/guidance-support/#collapse_0de8]

In case you missed it, the Legal Sector Affinity Group (LSAG) anti-money laundering (AML) guidance was updated in April. LSAG is made up of all the legal AML supervisory bodies. Updates include changes to the proceeds of crime regime, a revised approach to due diligence on bodies corporate, and further guidance on source of funds checks.
