Issue 119 - September 2023

- [General updates \[#tab_d5551\]](#)
- [Compliance updates \[#tab_d5552\]](#)

Welcome to the latest issue of SRA Update. You will be aware that the Chartered Institute of Legal Executives (CILEX) is currently consulting on whether or not to switch regulation of its members to us. This was something that CILEX approached us about and, having looked at the issue, we have decided this has potential to deliver tangible benefits to consumers of legal services and the wider public. So we are now consulting on the rules that would allow this to happen if CILEX decides it would like to go ahead with the change. We welcome your views on what those rules would look like. Also this month, we warm up for the renewals process, and you might want to reflect on what you have done in the last year to keep your skills and knowledge up to date. You can also find out about the results of our review into work on non-disclosure agreements.

The Chartered Institute of Legal Executives (CILEX) is currently consulting on whether or not to switch regulation of its members to us. Ahead of that decision, we are therefore consulting on what changes and additions would need to be made to our rules, should this move go ahead.

New thinking needed into how legal consumers are segmented

[\[https://media.sra.org.uk/sra/research-publications/consumer-segmentation-research/\]](https://media.sra.org.uk/sra/research-publications/consumer-segmentation-research/)

We have published externally commissioned research looking into how consumer groups are typically segmented within the legal sector. The research has identified that when considering how people choose and use legal services, doing so by traditional demographics such as age, ethnicity or economic status may not be the most appropriate approach.

Financial Sanctions - be aware of the changes [https://media.sra.org.uk/sra/news/sra-update-119-sanctions-changes/]

The Government's financial sanctions regime is frequently changing. In recent weeks we have seen a number of changes to the regime as the Government adapts to the challenges it faces. You should keep up to date with these changes to make sure you are compliant.

Read more about: Financial Sanctions - be aware of the changes [https://media.sra.org.uk/sra/news/sra-update-119-sanctions-changes/]

How are you dealing with the sanctions? [https://media.sra.org.uk/sra/news/sra-update-119-sanctions-data/]

We have collected data about how you have been dealing with the sanctions regime. There will now be a programme of on-site inspections and desk-based reviews to assess firms' sanctions risk exposure and how they are mitigating their risk.

Check your Economic Crime Levy status [https://media.sra.org.uk/sra/news/sra-update-119-economic-levy/]

The date for payment of the first Economic Crime Levy (ECL) is now drawing near. You should check whether this affects your firm based on your turnover in the period 1 April 2022 to 31 March 2023. HMRC have published guidance to help you understand if this applies to you.

Legal services general licence: expiring 28 October [https://assets.publishing.service.gov.uk/government/uploads/system/uploads/attachment_data]

If as part of its approach to sanctions compliance, your firm relies on the Legal Services General Licence in relation to Russia and Belarus, you should be aware that this expires on 28 October 2023. All reporting obligations under paragraph 10 within the licence must be completed by that date. HMRC is currently considering whether or not to renew the licence for the future.

If you hold frozen assets under the sanctions regime, you must submit a report to OFSI by Friday 10 November 2023. This must include the value of all such assets as of close of business on Friday 29 September 2023, so no reports should be submitted before this date. Your report must include details of all funds or economic resources frozen in the UK as well as those overseas, where these funds or economic resources are subject to UK financial sanctions legislation.
